E. J. MATHEWS IS APPOINTED COMMISSIONER

Mr. Cox to Take Mathews' Job of Assistant According to Present Plans

BOTH DEMOCRATS

No Changes Contemplated in Personell of Office

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18.—E. G. Mathews-of-Elyria, deputy prohibition commissioner, today announced that he had been notified of his appointment as State Prohibition commissioner to fill the vacancy left by the death recently of Clarence Sears.

Mathews' position as deputy commissioner will be filled by Milton S. Cox of Circleville. Cox is now Pickaway-co's superintendent of schools.

Formal announcement of Mathews' appointment was made later from the offices of Governor White.

DEPARTMENT HELP

Originator of the famous "flying squad" method of prohibition enforcement in Ohio, Mathews' appointment was believed to have been prompted to a considerable extent by the signing of a petition by all members of the prohibition department requesting that he be elevated to the post.

Mathews, a democrat, is 36 years old. He served as Lorain-co sheriff in 1927 and 1928. Prior to that he was a deputy sheriff. A veteran of the World War, Mathews is married and has two children.

During the administration of the late Prohibition Commissioner

ROOSEVELT GAME PRESERVE IS SAVED

PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 18.—The Roosevelt game preserve in the hills of Scioto-co will not be abandoned and the proposed discontinuation of deer propagation will not be carried out. The Southern Ohio Fish and Game Association was assured today with the announcement by Conservation Commissioner Reinhart of a change in policy.

Reinhart, after visiting the preserve here yesterday in the company of T. S. Myers, Akron, W. H. Tenthoff, Cincinnati, and Conrad Roth, Portsmouth, members of the conservation commission, and Thomas Nash, supervisor of the state farm at Urbana, declared that his previous opinion that the preserve was unsuited for deer propagation would be reversed.

PARISH TO HAVE AN 'OPEN HOUSE'

Open house will be held at the parsonage of the Chillicothe great-er Parish Friday, according to an announcement by the pastor, Rev. Abels. The members of the parish are asked to bring a potluck dinner at noon or in the evening. The Sunday school superintendent of the parish have been called for a meeting at 3 p. m.

GET RED FOX

Irvin Patrick of Wayne-twp. reports shooting a red fox on a farm in that township, Tuesday.

County Board To Act

The task of naming a new Pickaway-co superintendent of schools faces the county board of education following the announcement Wednesday that Milton S. Cox, incumbent, has been appointed deputy prohibition commissioner for Ohio. A meeting of the county board is expected to be called within a few days to determine what shall be done.

MUST RESIGN

Mr. Cox has not yet formally resigned but to accept the position after his appointment by Governor George White would mean that he must end his affiliation with the county school position.

Members of the county board who will be called upon to name a successor to Mr. Cox who has been here only since Aug. 1, 1930, are Charles C. Heffner, Walter C. Marion, Wayne Hoover, C. E. Meyers and W. H. Barck.

Mr. Cox succeeded M. C. Warren as school head coming here after eight years as superintendent in Vinton-co.

TWO HUNTERS ARE WOUNDED

Columbus Man Seriously Injured Near New Holland; Stoutsville Man Shot.

Two hunting accidents have been reported in Pickaway-co since the opening of the season Monday. One of the injured persons is reported seriously.

Floyd Snook, 56, of 518 S. Hague-ave, Columbus, was critically wounded when accidentally shot by a companion while on a hunting trip four miles east of New Holland in Perry-twp.

Snook and his companion, William Shriner of the same address, were separated by a dike. A rabbit ran along the top of the dike and just as Snook raised up Shriner opened fire and the shot struck Snook in the head, chest and face.

He was rushed to Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, for treatment. Raymond Swank, of Stoutsville, was wounded early Monday while hunting near Stoutsville when he was struck by the discharge from the gun of Walter Conrad, of Amanda, another hunter. The men were not hunting together.

The accident happened at day-break when it was difficult to see. Swank was taken to Stoutsville but shot were too deeply imbedded for a physician to extract. There were nine shot in one leg and three in the other.

Anti-tetanus serum was injected to prevent lockjaw.

ATTACK ON RACING GAMBLING IS BEGUN

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 18.—A concerted and relentless drive upon all gambling establishments in Lexington was inaugurated today upon orders of Chief of Police Ernest Thompson, who declared that all gambling dens, whether handbook or poker rooms, must be wiped out.

The drive against gambling establishments, it was believed, was the outgrowth of the shooting of Robert Hale, retired Lexington policeman, in a reputed gaming resort Sunday night.

RUOFF HELD

Edward Ruoff, 48, of Derby, was arrested Tuesday by members of the sheriff's office for Franklin-co authorities to whom he was released.

Undercover Man's Death Probed By Dry Officers

MANSFIELD, O., Nov. 18.—Reported threats against the life of Curtis Lysinger, 60, undercover worker for state dry agents who was known here as "the old man with the cane," were investigated here today after Lysinger was found dead in bed last night. Lysinger, one of the star witnesses in the state's case against seven of 10 persons arrested recently in prohibition raids, died after a fight Monday with a man known only as "George," but Coroner James K. Biddle declared the death was due to natural causes. Karl Wilgung and Vernon Kern, fellow roomers of Lysinger, insisted that he was cracked over the head with his own cane in a fight with "George" which originated from one of the raids.

DAMAGE TRIAL NEAR ITS END; MEDICS HEARD

Defendant Takes Case Shortly Before Noon; Physicians on Stand

ENTERS THIRD DAY

Trial of Mathewson Is Set For Friday

That the strength of Mrs. Bessie Courtwright of the Scioto Trail, north of this city, will be impaired for the remainder of her life as a result of the automobile collision near her home on April 29, 1930, for which she is suing Walter O. Brewer, Chillicothe, contractor for $10,000 damages, was the climax to the plaintiff's case in common pleas court Wednesday morning when the trial entered its third day. This assertion was made by Dr. Howard Jones who attended Mrs. Courtwright after the accident in which she and William Stebelton an aged relative were injured.

The plaintiff's case, represented by Tom A. Kenick, was closed with the testimony of Drs. Howard Jones and Lloyd Jones shortly before 11 a. m. Wednesday and the case was turned over to the defense.

WITNESSES CALLED

Additional witnesses called by the plaintiff to testify late Tuesday and early Wednesday were Mrs. Myrtle Reichelderfer, Mrs. Florence Metzger, S. G. Rader, Walter Metzger and Edward Cupp. The plaintiff, Mrs. Courtwright, herself, ascended the witness stand for a short time.

Although names of no witnesses had yet been placed on the book on the office of the clerk of courts, it was expected Attorney Barton Walters, for the defendant, would summon Dr. A. W. Holman.

It was expected the case would go to the jury sometime Wednesday afternoon.

MATHEWSON CASE

Trial of G. W. Mathewson, alias F. E. Austin, of Columbus, who is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses from several county doctors, including Drs. Rockey and Spindler in Ashville, scheduled to begin in common pleas court Friday at 9 a. m., according to Prosecuting Attorney Emmitt L. Crist.

Mr. Mathewson will be represented by Mr. Sharpe, Columbus attorney, and Charles Gerhardt of this city.

He is being held in the county jail unable to furnish bond after being indicted by the October grand jury. Mathewson was taken into custody after investigation by Deputy Sheriff Bryan Custer.

He is alleged to have worked "an insurance racket."

ATTORNEY KILLED

NAPOLEON, O., Nov. 18.—Julian F. Vandenberg, 40, prominent attorney and world war veteran, was found dead under his wrecked automobile on State Route No. 10, five miles east of here, today by highway workmen.

TRAIN WRECK FATAL TO MAN

Frazeysburg is Scene of Crash of Pennsylvania Freight Today.

FRAZEYSBURG, O., Nov. 18.—One person was killed and several others injured three miles west of here today when an eastbound Pennsylvania freight train wrecked. None of the victims were identified immediately.

The man who was killed was said to have been a train-rider. Victims of the accident were taken to the hospital in Newark. None of them were said to have been members of the train crew.

The accident occurred when one of the front cars of the train became derailed, apparently due to a faulty wheel. Other cars piled on top of the derailed car.

An accurate checkup of the damage by the accident was hampered by piles of debris.

OHIO CITIES SEEK FUNDS

'Give Till It Hurts' Is Plea In Many Community Fund Campaigns.

By International News Service
The fervor of World War days was being revived today on Ohio battlefronts where more than a dozen cities are waging a fight against poverty with vigorous community fund drives.

"Give till it hurts" sounded again from the lips of civic-spirited solicitors intent upon putting their campaigns "over the top."

Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton and Akron led the way, but increased enthusiasm was called for in Cleveland where slight losses were suffered in the second day of the drive.

Although the total climbed to $1,659,743, statisticians reckoned that it should have been more than $100,000 more, compared with last year's drive.

Columbus was cheered with pledges of $159,845, and it was predicted that the strong initial impetus might put the drive over sooner than was expected. The goal in Columbus is $397,098.

Progress of drives in other cities was reported as follows:

| City         | Goal      | Contributions |
|--------------|-----------|---------------|
| Akron        | $639,525 | $182,013     |
| Dayton       | 975,087   | 146,819       |
| Steubenville | 100,057   | 40,000        |
| Conneaut     | 10,650    | 1,775         |
| Ashtabula    | 33,000    | 10,867        |

Workers in other communities were spurred with the word that Orville, O., with a goal of $2,500, oversubscribed its quota by $200.

Lorain started off enthusiastically with a total of $29,002 reported at the "kickoff" dinner. The Lorain total is $75,000 and Chairman L. A. Fauer predicted the 200 workers would swiftly get the remaining $46,000.

Medina entered the last day of its campaign needing $3,400 to reach its goal of $9,000.

With $200,000 raised during the first two days, according to unofficial estimates late last night, Akron canvassers sought to obtain promises for another $100,000 today.

Predicting that Akron can look forward to better business in 1932, Harvey S. Firestone, rubber magnate, told Akron workers yesterday that "this is our last big job of the slump period and we must carry it to a successful conclusion."

OHIO'S TREASURERS CONVEENE THURSDAY

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18.—Treasurers of Ohio's 88 counties will assemble here tomorrow for the seventh annual meeting of the state association with the work-ings of the cigarette tax as one of the features of their program. ## JAPANESE OVERRUN MANCHURIA

Tsinsihar Is Taken by Japanese Army After 18 Hours of Fighting

CHINESE IN RETREAT

Russia Is Watched As Troops Cross Land

TOKYO, Nov. 18.—(11:10 p. m.)—Japan's Manchurian army invaded and occupied the city of Tsitsihar, capital of Heilungkiang province, at 8 p. m. tonight.

The troops of General Ma Chan-Shan, Chinese commander and acting governor of the province, fled in disorder as the Japanese forces entered the city.

Occupation of Tsitsihar followed by six hours the capture of Anganki railway, junction point on the partly Russian owned Chinese eastern railway after a twelve hour battle in which the Chinese forces under General Ma Chan-Shan, were routed.

The Japanese army is now not only astride the Chinese eastern railway but twenty miles beyond it having plunged deeply into the area of Manchuria where Soviet Russia asserts a sphere of influence. Only last Saturday night Maxim Litvinoff, acting Soviet commissar of foreign affairs, warned the Japanese government through Ambassador Hirota at Moscow that the Soviet government would not tolerate the cutting of the Chinese railway.

Nevertheless government officials today declared they were confident Russia would not resort to war with Japan to force withdrawal from Tsitsihar.

Completely demoralizing the Chinese army, Japanese troops swept northward today deep into the sphere of Soviet Russian influence capturing Tsitsihar and Anganki junction point of the Chinese eastern railway after almost eighteen hours of steady fighting.

Several hundred Japanese were reported killed in the fighting while Chinese losses were also heavy. The Heilungkiang army under General Ma Chan-Shan was reported fleeing in wild disorder toward the Mongolian and Siberian borders.

In Paris Kanichichi Yoshizawa was called "on the carpet" to explain the new Japanese drive northward with indication pointing to decisive action by the league to punish Japan for her continued defiance of league efforts to avert continued hostilities.

Dr. Spurgeon Bell, director of the business research at Ohio State University also is on tomorrow's program.

Frank Miller, superintendent of the state cigarette tax division, will discuss the administration of the cigarette tax law Friday morning and State Treasurer Harry S. Day will speak on the distribution of cigarette stamps.

TRAIN WRECK FATAL TO MAN

Frazeysburg is Scene of Crash of Pennsylvania Freight Today.

FRAZEYSBURG, O., Nov. 18.—

One person was killed and several others injured three miles west of here today when an eastbound Pennsylvania freight train wrecked. None of the victims were identified immediately.

The man who was killed was said to have been a train-rider.

Victims of the accident were taken to the hospital in Newark. None of them were said to have been members of the train crew.

The accident occurred when one of the front cars of the train became derailed, apparently due to a faulty wheel. Other cars piled on top of the derailed car.

An accurate checkup of the damage by the accident was hampered by piles of debris.

OHIO CITIES SEEK FUNDS

'Give Till It Hurts' Is Plea In Many Community Fund Campaigns.

By International News Service
The fervor of World War days was being revived today on Ohio battlefronts where more than a dozen cities are waging a fight against poverty with vigorous community fund drives.

"Give till it hurts!" sounded again from the lips of civic-spirited solicitors intent upon putting their campaigns "over the top."

Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton and Akron led the way, but increased enthusiasm was called for in Cleveland where slight losses were suffered in the second day of the drive.

Although the total climbed to $1,659,743, statisticians reckoned that it should have been more than $1,000,000 more, compared with last year's drive.

Columbus was cheered with pledges of $159,845, and it was predicted that the strong initial impetus might put the drive over sooner than was expected. The goal in Columbus is $897,098.

Progress of drives in other cities was reported as follows:

| City         | Goal      | Contributions |
|--------------|-----------|---------------|
| Akron        | $639,525 | $182,013     |
| Dayton       | 975,067   | 146,819       |
| Steubenville | 100,057   | 40,000        |
| Conneaut     | 10,650    | 1,775         |
| Ashtabula    | 33,000    | 10,867        |

Workers in other communities were spurred with the word that Orrville, O., with a goal of $2,500,000, oversubscribed its quota by $200.

Lorain started off enthusiastically with a total of $29,092 reported at the "kickoff" dinner. The Lorain total is $75,000 and Chairman L. A. Fauver predicted the 200 workers would swiftly get the remaining $46,000.

Medina entered the last day of its campaign needing $3,400 to reach its goal of $9,000.

With $200,000 raised during the first two days, according to unofficial estimates late last night, Akron canvassers sought to obtain promises for another $100,000 today.

Predicting that Akron can look forward to better business in 1932, Harvey S. Firestone, rubber magnate, told Akron workers yesterday that "this is our last big job of the slump period and we must carry it to a successful conclusion."

Report Carol Will Abdicate

VIENNA, Nov. 17.—Reports were in circulation here today, despite denials from Bucharest, that King Carol of Roumania had decided to abdicate in favor of his 12-year-old son, former King Michael.

Family quarrels and personal financial difficulties, the reports said, were responsible for the king's decision.

The first report that Carol's affairs had reached a climax in his resignation reached Budapest in a message from the Bucharest correspondent of the Telegraphen Union. Denials, describing the rumors as "malicious," were later issued in Bucharest, but these did not serve to put an end to the reports.

NEW LICENSE TAGS ARRIVE

Mayor Hedges to Begin Dispensing Plates on Dec. 1; Prices To Be Reduced.

New automobile and truck license plates have been received by Mayor B. T. Hedges, deputy motor vehicle commissioner, and they will be put on sale Dec. 1. The license numbers run from H-26,000 to H-28,000.

License fees will be reduced quarterly in 1932, according to Mr. Hedges. The price of all license tags in all classes of motor vehicles will be reduced one-fourth on April 1, one-half on July 1, three-fourths on October 1. For example if your fee January 1 is $7, it will be $5.25 on April 1, $3.50 on July 1, and $1.75 on October 1. Other fees will be given the same fractional reduction.

The minimum for trucks January 1 is $6 and for trailers $2.50. Trucks and trailers have a minimum for licenses as follows: April 1, $4.50 for trucks and $1.88 for trailers; July 1, $3 for trucks, $1.25 for trailers, October 1, $1.50 for trucks 63 cents for trailers.

The new license plates cannot be used until after Dec. 21. The deadline for obtaining the new tags to be placed on your car before you can use it after the first of the year is Dec. 31.

Mayor Hedges is now receiving applications for special numbers. Besides Mr. Hedges, C. E. Hill at Williamsport and Frank Hudson at Ashville dispense tags in this county.

JAPANESE OVERRUN MANCHURIA

Tsinsihar Is Taken by Japanese Army After 18 Hours of Fighting

CHINESE IN RETREAT

Russia Is Watched As Troops Cross Land

TOKYO, Nov. 18.—(11:10 p. m.)—Japan's Manchurian army invaded and occupied the city of Tsitsihar, capital of Heilungkiang province, at 8 p. m. tonight.

The troops of General Ma Chan-Shan, Chinese commander and acting governor of the province, fled in disorder as the Japanese forces entered the city.

Occupation of Tsitsihar followed by six hours the capture of Anganki railway, junction point on the party Russian owned Chinese eastern railway after a twelve hour battle in which the Chinese forces under General Ma Chan-Shan were routed.

The Japanese army is now not only astride the Chinese eastern railway but twenty miles beyond it having plunged deeply into the area of Manchuria where Soviet Russia asserts a smear of influence. Only last Saturday night, Maxim Litvinoff, acting Soviet commissar of foreign affairs, warned the Japanese government through Ambassador Hirota at Moscow that the Soviet government would not tolerate the cutting of the Chinese eastern.

Nevertheless government officials today declared they were confident Russia would not resort to war with Japan to force withdrawal from Tsitsihar.

Completely demoralizing the Chinese army Japanese troops swept northward today deep into the sphere of Soviet Russian influence capturing Tsitsihar and Anganki junction point of the Chinese eastern railway after almost eighteen hours of steady fighting.

Several hundred Japanese were reported killed in the fighting while Chinese losses were also heavy. The Heilungkiang army under General Ma Chan-Shan was reported fleeing in wild disorder toward the Mongolian and Siberian borders.

In Paris Kenkichi Yoshisawa was called "on the carpet" to explain the new Japanese drive northward with indication pointing to decisive action by the league to punish Japan for her continued defiance of league efforts to avert continued hostilities.

Tiger Basketeers Go Thru Paces, Look Good

Tall Boys Look Like Real Stuff

At the initial practice session of Coach "Pete" Herberholz high school Tigers basketball squad in the gymnasium at the high school this afternoon, prospects for the coming season appeared very bright. Several veterans of last year will be back in uniform and on-coming material promises to help develop a winning team.

All in all 64 candidates coming from the ranks of all four classes, reported for try-outs. Coach Herberholz hopes to sift the team down to about 20 members.

Four of last year's lettermen have reported. They are Dean

White, Bill Hegele, Merle Davis and Pete Stout. Other members of last year's squad who have also reported are John Laughlin, Bob Griffith, Fred Smith, Paul Rooney, Russell Skaggs, Terry Hitchcock and Ed Phebus. The other try-outs include new candidates. Carl Purcell, forward, has not yet reported although he is expected out.

Ned Thacher, a member of last year's Jackson-twv varsity, has also reported but will not be available for participation in games until after the first round of Central Buckeye League games. This is due to ineligibility because of his residence in the country, a ruling of the Ohio high school athletic association.

WORK EACH DAY

The first practice session was held this afternoon and such practices will be held in the gymnasium every night after school until early in December when the high school girls will begin their practices. Then the boys practice sessions will be held in the evening.

During the past week the candidates have been running from two to four laps around the track in the rear of the field in preparation for pre-conditioning.

At the first meeting of all candidates Tuesday Coach Herberholz stressed "staying eligible." He advised them that their grades counted before anything else. He also spoke of the need of cooperation and working together of team-mates and told candidates that "nobody as yet had a place on the team." Five positions are open for the varsity team and five more for a reserve corps, he told them.

SCHEDULE GOOD

Although final details have not been completed it is expected that the first game for the team will be December 4 with the Alumni members as opponents. A game is also being arranged for December 11 and the schedule following this game is as follows:

Dec. 18—Chillicothe (there).
Jan. 8—Bexley (there).
Jan. 15—Grandview (there).
Jan. 16—Marysville (here).
Jan. 22—Westerville (there).
Jan. 29—Delaware (there).
Feb. 5—Bexley (here).
Feb. 12—Grandview (there).
Feb. 13—Marysville (there).
Feb. 19—Westerville (here).
Feb. 26—Delaware (there).

Arrangements are underway by Athletic Director E. I. Gephart for a three day trip during the holidays which is expected to be in the southern part of the state. Several games will probably be played to keep the team in condition for after-holiday encounters. The project has not been completed.

The team is still looking for games and any country team who has open dates and wishes to play the high school should get in touch with E. I. Gephart.

CHRISTMAS TREES ON WAY

MONTREAL, Que. — New York, Philadelphia and other large cities west of the Mississippi will receive well over two hundred carloads of Christmas trees this year from New Brunswick. Indications are that an equal amount will be shipped from Nova Scotia. Christmas decorations do not stop there. Advices from Vancouver state that a special train of ten cars of Chinese lily bulbs and holly has left there for points in the eastern United States.

CHRISTMAS TREES TO P. I.

SEATTLE, Wash. — Christmas trees for export to the Philippine Islands is the newest venture of the Washington Christmas Tree Association, cooperative organization with members in Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, and British Columbia. If a sample lot of 500 trees from table size to 20 feet in height, finds a welcome, a large consignment yearly will grace Philippine homes at Yuletide. Half a million trees will be shipped to 38 States this year by the cooperative.

Displaying a particularly brilliant brand of football, the gridiron team of Sing Sing Penitentiary at Ossining, N. Y., handily defeated the U. S. Naval Militia team when the prisoners played their first game of the season before a throng of their cellmates. Here's an unusually snappy bit of action during the game played inside the cold, grey walls of the prison yard. A Sing Sing back is hurdling over a would-be tackler for a gain which helped pile up the 33-0 score for the convicts.

HOUSE LEADERSHIP BATTLE GATHERS MOMENTUM TODAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The battle for Democratic leadership of the house gained momentum today with the veteran Rep. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, and Rep. John J. O'Connor, fiery New York orator, looming as the chief contenders, among northern Democrats.

Backers of the movement to swing the party leadership north of the Mason and Dixon line were encouraged by the disclosure that party chieftains have already begun to frame a compromise offer on committee chairmen and assignments. Most of the plums, under the seniority rule, would go to southern Democrats.

One of the most likely northern candidates, Rep. Ayres of Kansas, has dropped from the race. The name of Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts also has been advanced as a compromise candidate.

While Rainey and O'Connor apparently led the northern field, southern Democrats are hopeful of capturing the leadership even though Rep. Jack Garner, slated to be speaker, hails from Texas.

Supporters of Rep. McDuffie of Alabama, party whip, and Rep. Rankin of Mississippi, known as a progressive, are seeking support in the belief that Rep. Joseph Byrns of Tennessee will prefer to become chairman of the appropriations committee.

The veteran Rainey has fallen heir to some of the support of Ayres, particularly among Missouri Democrats. He has a following in the south.

Rainey's age—he is past 70—and his frequent opposition to party policies are being used as arguments against him.

Because of his place on the rules committee, which frames the party program, O'Connor has been an active Democratic spokesman in debate on the floor of the house.

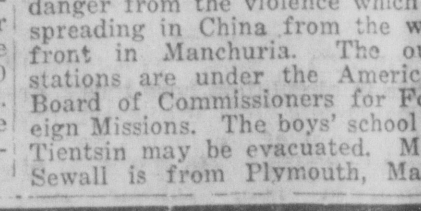

Thus far the powerful New York delegation of 23 Democrats has taken no stand on the leadership. Backers of O'Connor, however, are counting on a united delegation in the party caucus Dec. 5.

O'Connor is said to be friendly to the presidential boom for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York. His backers argue that he would be a powerful aid to Roosevelt as floor leader if the New Yorker wins the presidency next year.

Since Rep. Pou of North Carolina, in line to be chairman of the rules committee, announced he would relinquish his post if necessary to achieve party harmony O'Connor's name also has been advanced for chairmanship of that committee, the most powerful committee in the house.

Prohibition may enter into the fight for the leadership. Most of the southern Democrats who will head the big committee are dry and many wets are demanding one of their number for leader. They point out that the election which assured the Democrats of control of the house was that of a wet, Rep. Michael Hart in the eighth Michigan district.

BOOST TAXES, SLICE APPROPRIATIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—"Increase taxes and slash appropriations."

This economic slogan rang through the capitol today as Republican and Democratic leaders declared in favor of greater levies to balance the national budget and its expected $2,000,000,000 deficit.

The tax increase probably will be limited to the higher brackets of income taxes, the inheritance tax, a gift tax and possibly adoption of a modified sales tax on luxuries. The administration may attempt to reduce exemptions in the lower brackets of the income taxes, in order to increase the number of taxpayers, but little sympathy has developed for this plan among returning members of congress.

The attitude of Republican leaders was expressed by Senate Simon D. Fess of Ohio, the Republican national chairman. He said:

"The budget must be balanced even if we are compelled to take drastic reductions which are being made to reduce the outlay. The other must be increase of revenue. Senate Watson of Indiana, Republican floor leader in the senate, and Smoot (R.) of Utah, head of the senate finance committee, agreed with Fess that income taxes in the higher brackets would be increased. They also expressed anticipation of an increase in inheritance taxes.

The insurgents meanwhile, aided by Democrats, will insist on a gift tax if inheritance taxes are increased, in order to prevent evasion of the estate tax.

The sales tax has found some unexpected champions in the capitol hill, but the belief prevails it will be defeated unless limited to luxuries. Fess declared "the most that could be done (on sales tax) would be to limit it to luxuries, exempting necessities."

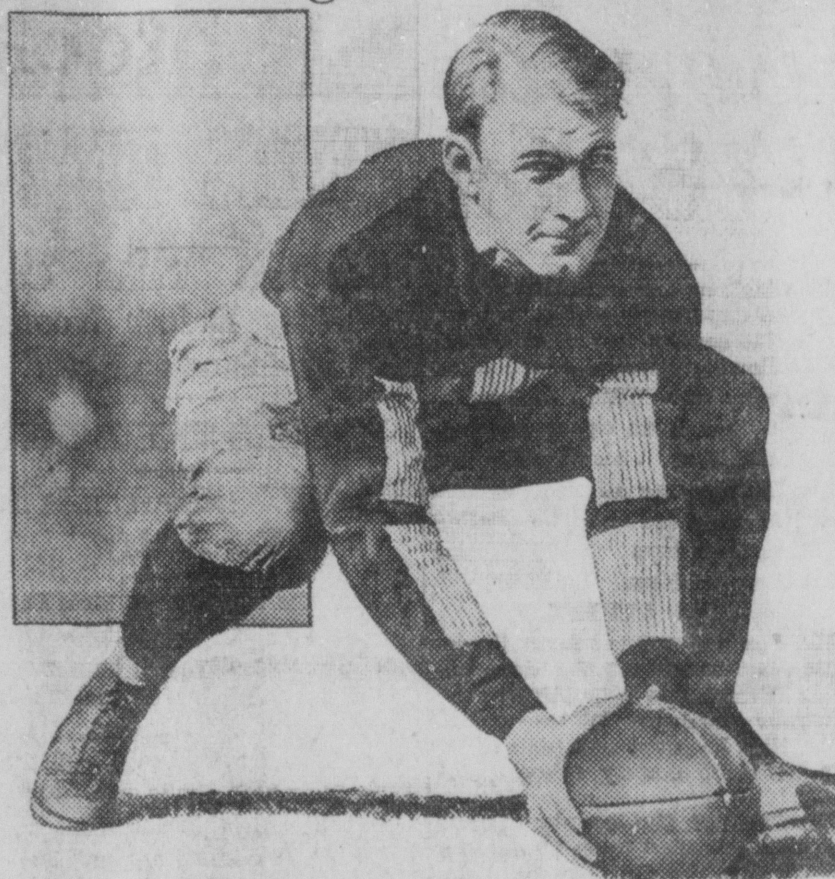

Senate Borah (R.) of Idaho, one of the insurgent leaders, also suggested limiting the sales tax to luxuries. He said he did not favor the tax personally but that its limitation to luxuries would produce necessary revenue.

The Democrats were much of the same opinion, senate McGill (D.) of Kansas, declared against the sales tax and for an increase in the higher brackets of income taxes. Senate Logan (D.) of Kentucky, said he was studying the sale tax, "which may be the proper method of raising additional revenue."

"I think everybody is agreed," Logan added, "that there shall be some increase in the taxes on higher incomes."

Peculiarly enough, there has developed strong opposition against

He's Colgate's "Iron Man"

Meet the "Iron Man" of the Colgate eleven. Paul Marsland, star center of the Maroon team, made the varsity squad in 1929. He played through until the third game of this season without a minute of time out. In the game with N. Y. U., Marsland's record was marred when he was knocked out in a scrimmage. His injuries forced a week's layoff, but now he's back in the game going stronger than ever. Paul is 21 years old and lives in New Rochelle, N. Y.

meeting the deficit by long or short term bond issues. The General sentiment on capitol hill leaned toward an immediate balancing of the budget.

TO LAUNCH LARGEST LINER

NEW YORK. — The newest and largest passenger ship ever to be built in the United States will be launched at Camden, N. J., on December 5. The ship, christened "Manhattan," is a 30,000-ton vessel, with a carrying capacity of approximately 1,300 passengers. Exclusive of the furnishings, the ship will cost $9,515,000. She will have a cruising speed of about twenty knots. The keel was laid on December 6 last year by the New York Shipbuilding Company. The liner will enter the trans-Atlantic service for the United States Steamship Lines next June.

Scientists say there is no such thing as a perfect climate. This is something for the publicity boys in California and Florida to re-fute.

WHOLESALE PRICES DECREASE ONE PER CENT THRU OCTOBER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Wholesale prices decreased a little more than one per cent in October as compared with September, while there has been a decrease of 17 per cent since September a year ago, the bureau of Labor statistics announced today.

Decreases in the prices of corn, cows, hogs, cotton, peanuts, lemons, oranges, white potatoes, tobacco and wool caused farm products as a group to average 2.34 per cent lower in October than in September. On the other hand, the price of oats, rye, wheat, eggs, hay and onions were higher in October than in September.

Among food prices decreases were reported for lamb, fresh pork, bacon, ham, dressed poultry, cured fish, corn meal, rice and vegetable oils, resulting in a decrease of about one-half of one per cent for the group as a whole. Butter, fresh and cured beef, lard, oleomargarine, rye and wheat flour, and bananas averaged higher than in September.

HIDES DROP

A marked decline in the general average price of hides and skins during October forced the hides and leather group as a whole down slightly more than three per cent. Boots and shoes and other leather products showed little or no change from the month before.

"In the group of textile products cotton goods, woolen and worsted goods, silk and rayon, and other textile products showed further price decreases from September to October. The textile group as a whole declined about 2.14 per cent.

With gasoline and crude petroleum advancing slightly and with minor decreases reported for anthracite and bituminous coals practically no change was shown in the fuel and lighting group as a whole. Coke remained unchanged.

Up and down fluctuations in the prices of the items composing the metals and metal products group produced little change on the group as a whole, but with a downward tendency. Iron and steel showed slight change and nonferrous metals and agricultural implements decreased, while automobiles and other metal products showed no change.

Lumber, cement, paint materials, and other building materials continued their downward movement in October. No change was shown for structural steel with a minor increase reported for brick. The group as a whole showed a decrease of less than 1 per cent.

Further price recessions during October for chemicals, mixed fertilizers, and fertilizer materials caused the chemicals and drugs group to decline about one per cent. No change was shown for drugs and pharmaceuticals. Both furniture and furnishings in the group of housefurnishings goods continued to decline in the month.

Any member of the family of C. V. Baker, R. F. D. 2, Stoutsville, is invited to be a guest of The Herald to the Grand Theatre. Call at this office for ticket.

Stop That Cough Quick!

Almost instant relief from coughs is now guaranteed in the use of the physician's famous prescription called Thoxine. It works on an entirely different principle; having a double action, it relieves the throat irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by cough syrups and patent medicines and the cough stops like magic, usually with the very first swallow.

Taken before retiring, Thoxine absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. Contains no chloroform or harmful drugs. Children like it. Remember—relief within 15 minutes from coughs or sore throat, or your money back. 35c, 60c, $1.00 bottles. Sold by: Hamilton & Ryan and all other good Drug Stores.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

A Sing Sing back is hurdling over a would-be tackler for a gain which helped pile up the 33-0 score for the convicts.

HOUSE LEADERSHIP BATTLE GATHERS MOMENTUM TODAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The battle for Democratic leadership of the house gained momentum today with the veteran Rep. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, and Rep. John J. O'Connor, fiery New York orator, looming as the chief contenders, among northern Democrats.

Backers of the movement to swing the party leadership north of the Mason and Dixon line were encouraged by the disclosure that party chieftains have already begun to frame a compromise offer on committee chairmen and assignments. Most of the plums, under the seniority rule, would go to southern Democrats.

One of the most likely northern candidates, Rep. Ayres of Kansas, has dropped from the race. The name of Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts also has been advanced as a compromise candidate.

While Rainey and O'Connor apparently led the northern field, southern Democrats are hopeful of capturing the leadership even though Rep. Jack Garner, slated to be speaker, hails from Texas.

Supporters of Rep. McDuffie of Alabama, party whip, and Rep. Rankin of Mississippi, known as a progressive, are seeking support in the belief that Rep. Joseph Byrns

MAT TICKET SALE GOOD

Crowd Expected to Attend Wrestling Bout at Memorial Hall Friday Eve.

The ticket sale is advancing nicely for the star wrestling card to be presented at the Memorial Hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock by the Howard Hall Post American Legion, featuring Claude Swindell, Lincoln, Neb., the world's light-weight champion.

This card is expected to be the best that has ever been matched here by Frank Davis S. Court-st.

Swindell, who is known throughout the country, will clash in the main go with Chuck Nelson on Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania railroad champ. Although not so much has been heard of Nelson it is a well known fact through his appearance here this summer that his knowledge of the art of the mat game is wide and he will be expected to put up a great fight to the champ. Swindell is powerful, clever and fast and has pleased every audience before whom he has shown.

This will undoubtedly be a close match.

Gypsy Joe Snyder, Columbus, well known in "circles" as putted against Hal Spring of Locan in the semi-final go of the evening. Almost every mat fan knows what Joe can do, but this is not so well acquainted with Mr. Spring.

The opener of the evening will see Ray Phillips of Columbus take on Lou Evans of Portsmouth. Both have made previous appearances and are somewhat tough. This match also will be a close one.

Tickets for this card may be secured from American Legion members here at the price of 10c each for downstairs and 15c for the balcony. The regular price of 25c for children is in effect. This is a benefit for the American Legion and a large sum of money will be raised.

BOOST TAXES, SLICE APPROPRIATIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—"Increase taxes and slash appropriations"

This economic slogan rang through the capitol today as Republican and Democratic leaders declared in favor of greater levies to balance the national budget and its expected $2,000,000,000 deficit.

The tax increase probably will be limited to the higher brackets of income taxes, the inheritance tax, a gift tax and possibly adoption of a modified sales tax on luxuries. The administration may attempt to reduce exemptions in the lower brackets of the income taxes, in order to increase the number of taxpayers, but little sympathy has developed for this plan among returning members of congress.

The attitude of Republican leaders was expressed by Senate Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, the Republican national chairman. He said:

"The budget must be balanced even if we are compelled to take drastic reductions which are being made to reduce the outlay. The other must be increase of revenue."

Senate Watson of Indiana, Republican floor leader in the senate, and Smoot (R) of Utah, head of the senate finance committee, agreed with Fess that income taxes in the higher brackets would be increased. They also expressed anticipation of an increase in inheritance taxes.

The insurgents meanwhile, aided by Democrats, will insist on a gift tax, inheritance taxes are increased, in order to prevent evasion of the estate tax.

The sales tax has found some unexpected champions on capitol hill but the belief prevails it will be defeated unless limited to luxuries. Fess declared "the most that could be done (on sales tax) would be to limit it to luxuries, exempting necessities."

Senate Borah (R) of Idaho, one of the insurgent leaders, also suggested limiting the sales tax to luxuries. He said he did not favor the tax personally but that its limitation to luxuries would produce necessary revenue.

The Democrats were much of the same opinion, senate McGill (D) of Kansas, declared against the sales tax and for an increase in the higher brackets of income taxes. Senate Logan (D) of Kentucky, said he was studying the sales tax, "which may be the proper method of raising additional revenue."

"I think everybody is agreed," Logan added, "that there shall be some increase in the taxes on higher incomes."

Peculiarly enough, there has developed strong opposition against

Sears, Mathews was directly charged with the enforcement of the prohibition laws, Sears handling the administrative end of the department.
Handicapped considerably by budget reductions, Mathews originated the "flying squadron" method of prohibition enforcement by which four agents were used in conducting raids in various parts but no immediate changes in personnel. Mathews gave the following statement to International News Service:
"Under my direction there will of the state, working through the central offices of the department in Columbus.
MAKES STATEMENT
Following his receipt of the apportionment of police of the department.
"We hope to go forward with a consistent and diligent enforcement program, determined to abate conditions wherever possible.
"I naturally appreciate the confidence shown in me by the governor and hope in all things to measure up to the standard which he expects."
Mathews' election to the position of sheriff in Lorain-co in 1926 was a big surprise to political observers. Ordinarily Lorain-co is three-to-one Republican.
Although the Anti-Saloon League of Ohio never actively recommends anyone for appointment to a place in the prohibition department, Mathews' elevation to the position according to Superintendent S. P. McNaught "was satisfactory."

NEWS FROM DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE REPORTED

DEPARTMENT OF ARGIC OHIO FIRST IN HONEY
According to C. A. Reese, State Apiarist for the State Department of Agriculture, Ohio will rank first in the production of honey this year. It is estimated that in this state there are 250,000 colonies of honey bees. This year these bees have produced over 235 carloads of honey.
While a considerable amount of this honey is consumed within the state, the most of it is exported. It is not uncommon for the State Department of Agriculture to issue certificates to shippers showing that honey to be shipped to France, Germany, Holland and other nations was produced by bees free from disease.

A HUNTERS' PARADISE
An interesting notice has been received by Director Guthery of the Ohio Department of Agriculture from Ervin Carey of Marion County. Mr. Carey announces that he has 400 acres of the best pheasant and rabbit cover in the State of Ohio. He says that there will be allowed each day a limited number of hunters and a reasonable charge made for shooting rights.
This is the first instance that has come to the attention of the Department where a farmer has encouraged the propagation of wild life in the hope that sportsmen would pay a reasonable fee for the privilege of hunting upon his property. This experiment is being watched with interest by many folks and if it proves to be successful and meets the approval of sportsmen, it is quite likely that many other farmers will adopt the policy set by Mr. Carey.

FREE BULLETIN
A number of recipes have been prepared by the Ohio Department of Agriculture giving numerous ways in which honey can be used as a part of the Thanksgiving dinner. Copy of the bulletin containing these recipes can be had free by addressing the Division of Plant Industry, Ohio State Department of Agriculture, Columbus, Ohio.

FARM BANKRUPTCIES
Reports reaching the Ohio Department of Agriculture indicate that farm bankruptcies are decreasing in the United States. Records show that in 1928 there were 5,679. In 1929 4,939 and only 4,464 in 1930.
Considering the fact that the farm population makes up nearly half of the whole, the farmer enjoys an enviable position as regards failure. You can depend on the farmer fighting to the last ditch and finding an honorable way out of his difficulties.

ONE DOLLAR EGGS
Will eggs by 75c or $1.00 a dozen in New York and Boston this winter? This is a question being asked by many who are watching the trend of the poultry industry.

HUSBAND OF GIRL IS HELD

Charge Youth Strangled Wife to Death; Body Found Near Wheeling, W. Va.
WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 18—Police of Ohio and West Virginia joined forces today to determine whether the brutal slaying of Mrs. Marie Burch Doyle, 16, was committed in Ohio or in West Virginia, where her body was found, as denials came from her youthful husband, Dudley Doyle, 17, of Moundsville, W. Va., that he knew anything about the cause of her death.
Doyle was confronted with the marks of automobile tires in the road near Chapline Hill here, a lonely "lovers lane" where the girl's body was found with four strands of rope tightly bound about the neck. The marks in the road duplicated the marks made by the tires of Doyle's car, but the husband declared he was not involved in the death of his estranged wife.
Two men known to have been friends of the girl, whose home was in Bellare, O., were sought by police for questioning. They were Chester Kindeberger and Chester Gieski. Authorities said they wanted to interrogate the two men concerning the girl's whereabouts following her disappearance Friday night.

HUSKING CONTEST
The eighth annual National Corn Husking Contest was held last week at Grundy Center, Iowa. Winners and runners-up in contests in eight states competed for championship honors.
The winner in this contest was Orville Welch of Illinois, who husked 31.37 bushels in eighty minutes, the time allotted for the contest. Second place was won by Theodore Balko of Minnesota with 30.56 bushels.
The contestant from this state, Albert Lauckhoff of Paulding-co, was selected in a State Contest sponsored by The Ohio Farmer and held at Tippecanoe City several weeks ago. His record in this contest was 19 1-2 bushels. The runner-up was Ross Moon of Warren-co who made a record of 18.67 bushels.

14 KILLED IN BOAT BLAST

Americans Among Passengers on Itu, Japanese River Boat Which Exploded.
SHANGHAI, Nov. 18.—Fourteen persons lost their lives when explosion and fire wrecked the American-owned Yangtze river steamer Itu 323 miles above Ichang on Monday, according to word received here today.
Four of the victims were killed outright by the explosion, while the other 10 were drowned.
Two hundred passengers aboard the vessel, including a number of Americans and other foreigners, were rescued by Chinese and other steamers. The U. S. S. Tutuila is standing by to take the survivors to Hankow.
The Americans aboard included Mrs. M. C. Cheek, wife of a Shanghai business man; Mrs. A. W. Warmolt, wife of Lieutenant Warmolt of the U. S. S. John D. Ford; Mrs. Rose Leibbrand, a Shanghai newspaper woman; Ida Gunther and Wanda Jenner, missionaries, and Miss Mary Carter, chief boatswain's mate. Yoke of the United States navy, one of the officers of the Itu, aided in the rescue work.

A real, live tarantula, one of the deadliest insects known, is being shown in a glass jar at the Funk grocery store.
W. L. Funk, manager, was cutting bananas from a bunch when he observed the tarantula. He continued to cut the bananas until he reached the bug then he touched it with a stick and trapped it in the jar.

Prophecy Wet Years

Two California weather prophets have checked and double-checked on the rings of the sequoia tree with the result that they read in them signs of a wet decade. They were speaking in terms of rainfall, not of scofflawing.

The rings of a tree represent the years of its growth and the greater the rainfall the thicker the rings. The expansive sequoia tree makes the best measure because the units are larger and therefore easier to read.

From a newly cut sequoia stump the Californians discovered that since 1793 there have been alternating wet and dry periods of 10 years each. From that discovery they deduce that the country is now due for 10 years of rain.

They need not have gone to the tree to learn that rainy years are ahead. Rain fall like all atmospheric conditions, is pretty well balanced over any period of years. The mere fact that the country is now nearing the end of two unusually dry years is virtual proof that wet years are ahead.

There is not as much difference between a wet and a dry year as is commonly supposed. What is commonly known as a "wet" year is less than 20 per cent above normal, and the so-called "dry" year is only from 20 to 30 per cent below normal in rainfall.

So, while 1931 will be marked on the records as a year of drought, there was enough rain to water bumper crops and even if the next 10 years come under the classification of "wet" it does not mean that America will be swept by devastating floods.

Mystery

ONE of man's reactions to vast astronomical distances comes his vanity. The appalling distances and emptiness flatter him, prompting him to boast of that wonderful human intelligence which can take astral measurements in millions of light years.

Nor is this pride in the race without justification. Astronomy is one of the sciences which proves that the human mind is more remarkable than anything it has ever conceived. This generation can take great pride in the progress made in the development of this brilliant and keenly edged instrument.

But astronomy also teaches humility. Man feels almost microscopic in comparison with universes and the abyssal heavens—his own insignificance is brought home to him. They strip him of that vain conviction that he is the beginning and the end of all things; that whatever is is for his purpose.

The progress made in the study of astronomy provides one of the most brilliant chapters in the history of human knowledge, and yet, though great may be the gulf between the modern astronomer and the star-gazers of ancient Chaldea, at the end of their discoveries lies the self-same wall of mystery. What is beyond? The empty places in the sky put a limit to human knowledge now, just as they did when Biblical Ur was the center of the world's intelligence. The limit has been pushed back an incalculable distance, but it is still there. Basically, the things that puzzled the Chaldeans most puzzle this generation quite as much.

Better Watches

NO matter how much you paid for your watch it is not the least word in watches. Though it cost hundreds of dollars and is in the latest mode, year hence it may be considered obsolete from the standpoint of performance and accuracy.

A revolutionary change in watch-making has just been made possible by the discovery of a new steel alloy by Dr. C. E. Guillaume, head of the international bureau of weights and measures. He calls it "elinvor."

Use of the new alloy makes watches proof against the vagaries of the weather and magnetic disturbances, and also prevents rust and permits a more rigid and durable construction. Only the hairspring will be made from it.

If "elinvor" is all Doctor Guillaume claims for it, it ends a century long quest for a way to make watches keep good time in the face of heat, cold and magnetic influences. Even the best watches are now susceptible to changes in temperature and to magnetic influences.

Man seldom perfects, but he never ceases his efforts at perfection and after approximates his goal. He seems to have removed one of the last two imperfections in the timepiece, leaving only the necessity of winding at certain intervals. Nor would that be considered a defect if man possessed an infallible memory.

The CZARINA'S RUBIES

by Sidney Warwick

READ THIS FIRST

At Monksilver, a country place outside London, Paul Federoff is slain after.

Rain fall like all atmospheric conditions, is pretty well balanced over any period of years. The mere fact that the country is now nearing the end of two unusually dry years is virtual proof that wet years are ahead.

Meanwhile his friend, Jim Wynter, meets beautiful Katharine Farling, to whom the rubies rightfully belong as heir to the Russian prince who lost his life saving them from a mob. Once a concert violinist, he has been reduced to penury by an injury to her wrist.

Katharine suggests to Wynter that Severn may be imprisoned at Monksilver and he goes there at night to find Severn's servant, Creyke, dead from a stab wound in a car inside the grounds. Hearing a groan within the house, he steals in.

NOW GO ON

CHAPTER XVI

Except for the faint starlight through the half-open door, the hall stretched away before him in shadowy vagueness to lose itself in a blackness like velvet beyond the foot of a flight of stairs; stairs that his eyes guessed at, rather than definitely made out. He stole across the threshold into that forbidding interior.

That every step he took in this sinister house might be dogged by peril, Jim Wynter had had warning enough. The silent figure in that car in the dark of the trees outside . . . that other man who had made that long flight from Russia only to find death waiting for him at his journey's end here at Monksilver; two dead men whispering to him of stealthy, lurking menace within this house as he groped his way through the shadow to the stairs.

Whispers that he brushed aside impatiently. Wynter was no more eager than the next man to court unnecessary danger. But there were times when one could avoid danger only at the cost of one's self-respect.

To his strained nerves, as he made his way up the stairs with the noiseless stealth of a hunting cat, the intense silence brooding over Monksilver made the enclosed atmosphere of the house like a whispering gallery. That low moaning above . . . the sound of movements that seemed to proceed from the same upper room . . . a murmur of barely distinguishable voices now faintly heard from still further away; all blended like a whispering chorus into the night's mystery.

The thickly carpeted stairs effectively muffled all sound of his footsteps as Wynter groped his way up through the darkness. He had not reached the top of the flight when something brought him to an abrupt halt, with the blood drumming in his ears.

FOOTSTEPS

He had heard a door open not far away, caught a sudden reflection of light falling into the blackness from round a corner on the landing above, heard the door shut again; and then the footsteps of some as yet unseen man coming along a corridor as if towards the head of the flight of stairs. A man who carried an electric torch lit his moving glow reflected ahead of him, softly whistling a cheerful popular air as he came.

Wynter had heard that same air in a West End revue a few nights back. He had liked it then . . . now, with the memory of that dead man outside in the dark garden, it seemed jarring, horrible.

His detection seemed inevitable now. Was he to spring forward and take that cheerful whistler by surprise—or wait?

In any case now he'd got to be alertly on guard, ready if need be to get in the first blow. With every whistled note menace was creeping towards him—a dangerous witness as he was, who knew of that murder behind the locked gates—and the unseen man above almost certainly either Creyke's murderer or an accomplice in that crime.

Wynter crouched back against the baluster rail tensely waiting; the nearest light was growing brighter, though the man who carried it was yet hidden from sight. And then suddenly one of the balusters gave a loud straining creak. Instantly the light above went out and the footsteps stopped dead—then sprang quickly forward, and through the blackness a harsh, startled voice challenged:

"Who's there?"

The next moment Wynter was half blinded by a flash of light striking him squarely in the eyes. Dazzled, he had not even a glimpse of the figure behind the light.

Almost instantly the electric torch was extinguished again, with a hoarse exclamation from the man above, now evidently in a sudden desperate panic of fury and fear. And simultaneously Wynter was conscious of a blind, rushing attack.

But that he was half prepared for it, and with his left hand had clutched at the baluster while his right went up in instinctive guard, he would have been swept off his feet.

INJURED

The next moment the two of them were struggling fiercely in the bewildering darkness, while Wynter's adversary raised his voice loudly, screaming out to others in the house. For a moment the two locked figures swayed perilously. Wynter felt a hard feeling for his throat, had in self-defense to relinquish his grip on the baluster; then his foot went over the edge of the step, and the two combatants went crashing headlong down the flight of stairs.

It was the other man who was undermeant as they reached the bottom, breaking Wynter's fall. He lay where he had fallen, quite still. He lay where he had sustained more injury than Wynter, though the latter, as tried to pull himself up, fell back with a groan, waves of dizzy faintness sweeping over him. He had struck his head in falling.

From far overhead came the sound of hurrying, excited footsteps, men running down in response to the cry.

Jim Wynter, with fast-fading senses, suddenly remembered the jade and pearl necklace he had brought from Katharine's flat—an odd enough remembrance at such a time.

With a supreme effort of will he rallied himself for a moment to obey an instinct to defend that necklace at least from those unknown criminals—had just enough strength left to pull it from his pocket, with the sound of those rapidly descending footsteps loud in his ears.

ENEMIES

Gropingly, with a last weakening effort, he thrust that necklace behind the fold of trust carpet that stretched down from the edge of the last step to the brass rod holding the carpet in place at the bottom.

—and then fell back with consciousness suddenly fading out.

Jim Wynter opened his eyes with a vague oppressive sense of something having just happened, some exciting, disturbing experience, though what he could not for the life of him remember. In those first confused waking moments his mind seemed to work with such slow, painful effort, his head throbbing as though a dozen hammers were pounding in it, that he abandoned the attempt to straighten out this perplexing thing.

His eyes ached wearily, and as he opened them everything seemed mist-blurred, and the effort to focus them hurt him. It was a relief to close them again.

Then, as he lay back, his mind—a troubled blank, slowly half-clusive phantoms of remembrance began to creep in through the gradually opening doors of memory.

Vaguely it came back to him that he had gone into a strange, unfamiliar house—but what house? And why had he gone there? Questions whose answer was beyond him. But in the darkness of that house some one had attacked him; he could recall that now, how he had struggled with an unseen assailant on a flight of stairs quite lately—doubtless only a minute or two ago—and the struggle had ended in a headlong crash down the stairs.

He remembered striking his head; it was that that had knocked him out, of course . . . things were getting clearer now. He must have been unconscious for minutes. Yet he didn't feel as though he was lying there at the foot of the stairs. . . .

The still-dazed man put out an uncertain groping hand, to encounter in surprise the cool smoothness of linen sheets, the at first bewildering, but unmistakable touch of a satin eiderdown quilt. Evidently then, as his puzzled reflections told him, he was not lying as he had supposed at the bottom of the stairs.

Wynter opened his eyes again, the task calling for a curious effort, the lids seemed so heavy with something more than sleep. He was in a bed, a bed with a low carved footboard that at first to his eyes, hurt by a thin dazzling knife-edge of light, seemed incredibly far away.

LIGHT

"It's all darned queer," he heard himself say.

Then suddenly Jim Wynter realized what that dancing light was. He was lying in a dim, shaded room, but between the pale, drawn curtains of the window a narrow glint of sunlight had found its way, like a golden arrow.

Queer that was. It was night when he had gone to that house where he had fought with an unseen enemy in its darkness. Yet quite evidently it was broad daylight now outside that curtained window. Queer! Bewildering!

Then as his tired, aching eyes began to take in impressions more clearly, Wynter realized that he was in a pleasant room, that was certainly not his room at the Graysons—a room he had never seen before. What did it mean? Where was he? A perfectly strange, unfamiliar room.

And he was wearing a suit of silk pajamas, which were equally unfamiliar.

Interesting, but all more than a little puzzling.

If his head had not been aching so vividly he would have rather enjoyed this mystifying experience. But because of that damnably throbbing head of his he found it difficult to get a grip on things, and that worried him.

Investigate Severe and Lasting Abdominal Pain

It Is Usually a Danger Signal, and Demands Expert

Diagnosis, Says Dr. Copeland, Writing of Acute Appendicitis and Suggesting Preliminary Treatment.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

In a medical survey recently made in Philadelphia, many interesting facts were brought to light concerning appendicitis.

The statistics covering the clinical records of over five thousand patients in twenty-seven hospitals, were carefully studied.

It is hoped the public will give greater regard to the seriousness of this disease. More attention should be given to it than we paid in the past. Dangers attached to the operation no longer exist as in the days when the disease was first known.

Many interesting and instructive facts are learned from this study. One of them is that the persons who suffer most from this disease are those who have taken laxatives prior to the operation.

Bear in mind that if you have pain in the abdomen nothing should be taken by mouth. Certainly you should not take a laxative. Apply an ice bag to the abdomen and call your doctor.

Also remember that any abdominal pain that lasts for at least six hours demands expert attention. Severe pains in the abdomen are signs of danger and you should at once consult your physician.

If you have had attacks of appendicitis and your physician has found the cause of the attacks and advised this operation, you need not hesitate to have it done. It is much wiser to wait until a hospital is operated upon than be rushed in by an ambulance.

Forty per cent of the patients enter hospitals today give evidence of rupture of the appendix. This is unfortunate. When the appendix has actually ruptured, the recovery of the patient is made more stormy and difficult.

If you have had attacks of appendicitis and your physician has found the cause of the attacks and advised this operation, you need not hesitate to have it done. It is much wiser to wait until a hospital is operated upon than be rushed in by an ambulance.

Forty per cent of the patients enter hospitals today give evidence of rupture of the appendix. This is unfortunate. When the appendix has actually ruptured, the recovery of the patient is made more stormy and difficult.

It is hoped the public will give greater regard to the seriousness of this disease. More attention should be given to it than we paid in the past. Dangers attached to the operation no longer exist as in the days when the disease was first known.

Many interesting and instructive facts are learned from this study. One of them is that the persons who suffer most from this disease are those who have taken laxatives prior to the operation.

Bear in mind that if you have pain in the abdomen nothing should be taken by mouth. Certainly you should not take a laxative. Apply an ice bag to the abdomen and call your doctor.

Also remember that any abdominal pain that lasts for at least six hours demands expert attention. Severe pains in the abdomen are signs of danger and you should at once consult your physician.

Prophecies Wet Years
TWO California weather prophets have checked and double-checked on the rings of the sequoia tree with the result that they read in them signs of a wet decade. They were speaking in terms of rainfall, not of scofflawing.

The rings of a tree represent the years of its growth and the greater the rainfall the thicker the rings. The expansive sequoia tree makes the best measure because the units are larger and therefore easier to read.

From a newly cut sequoia stump the Californians discovered that since 1793 there have been alternating wet and dry periods of 10 years each. From that discovery they deduce that the country is now due for 10 years of rain.

They need not have gone to the tree to learn that rainy years are ahead. Rain fall, like all atmospheric conditions, is pretty well balanced over any period of years. The mere fact that the country is now nearing the end of two unusually dry years is virtual proof that wet years are ahead.

There is not as much difference between a wet and a dry year as is commonly supposed. What is commonly known as a "wet" year is less than 20 per cent above normal, and the so-called "dry" year is only from 20 to 30 per cent below normal in rainfall.

So, while 1931 will be marked on the records as a year of drought, there was enough rain to water bumper crops and even if the next 10 years come under the classification of "wet" it does not mean that America will be swept by devastating floods.

Mystery
ONE of man's reactions to vast astronomical distances concerns his vanity. The appalling distances and emptiness flatter him, prompting him to boast of that wonderful human intelligence which can take astral measurements in millions of light years.

Nor is this pride in the race without justification. Astronomy is one of the sciences which proves that the human mind is more remarkable than anything it has ever conceived. This generation can take great pride in the progress made in the development of this brilliant and keenly edged instrument.

But astronomy also teaches humility. Man faces almost microscopic in comparison with universes and the abyssal heavens—his own insignificance is brought home to him. They strip him of that vain conviction that he is the beginning and the end of all things, that whatever is is for his purpose.

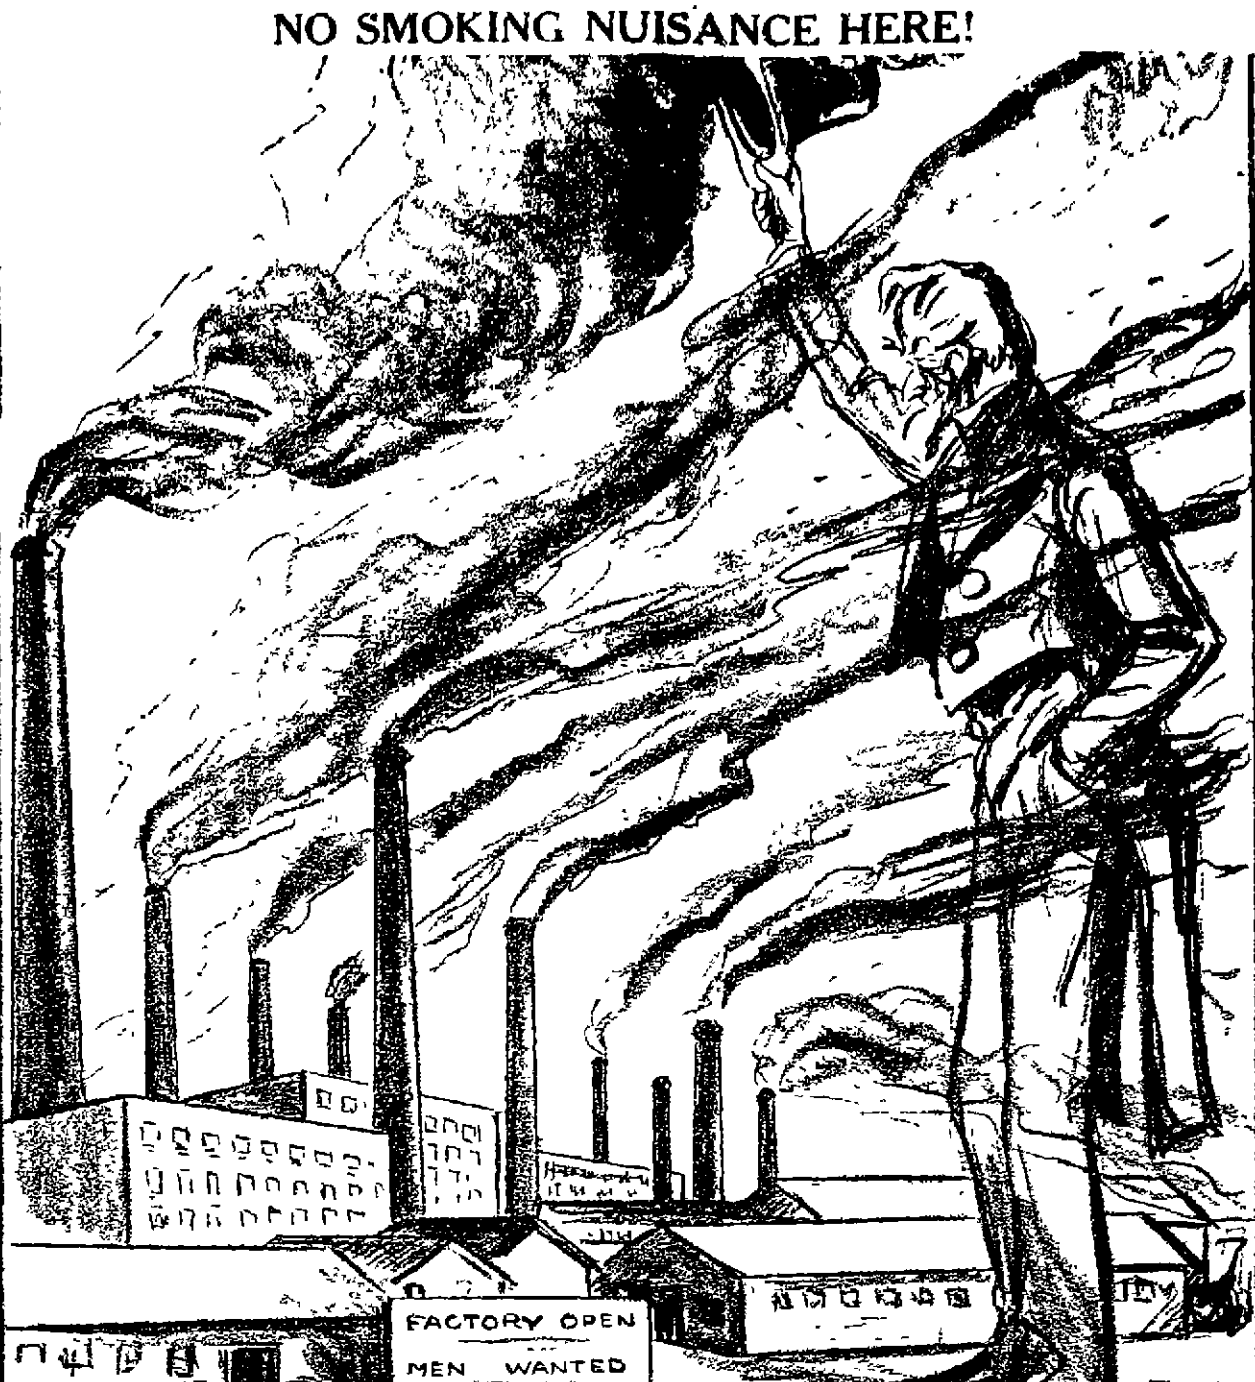

The progress made in the study of astronomy provides one of the most brilliant chapters in the history of human knowledge, and yet, though great may be the gulf between the modern astronomer and the star-gazers of ancient Chaldea, at the end of their discoveries lies the self-same wall of mystery: What is beyond? The empty places in the sky put a limit to human knowledge now, just as they did when Biblical Ur was the center of the world's intelligence.

The limit has been pushed back an incalculable distance, but it is still there. Basically, the things that puzzled the Chaldeans most puzzle this generation quite as much.

Better Watches
NO matter how much you paid for your watch it is not the last word in watches. Though it cost hundreds of dollars and is in the latest mode your watch may be considered obsolete from the standpoint of performance and accuracy.

A revolutionary change in watch-making has just been made possible by the discovery of a new steel alloy by Dr. C. E. Guillaume, head of the international bureau of weights and measures. He calls it "invar."

Use of the new alloy makes watches proof against the vagaries of the weather and magnetic disturbances, and also prevents rust and permits a more accurate and durable construction. It may be the hair-spring will be made from it.

The CZARINA'S RUBIES

by Sidney Warwick

READ THIS FIRST
At Monksilver, a country place outside London, Paul Federoff is slain after carrying the Czarina Rubies from Russia. The murderers fail to find the gems, which therefore must be hidden in the house. Frank Severn, who entrusted the rubies to Federoff in Russia, returns to England, is abducted and carried unconscious to Monksilver.

Meanwhile his friend, Jim Wynter, meets beautiful Katharine Farling, to whom the rubies rightfully belong as heires to the Russian prince who lost his life saving them from a mob. Once a concert violinist, she has been reduced to penury by an injury to her wrist.

Katharine suggests to Wynter that Severn may be imprisoned at Monksilver and he goes there at night to find Severn's servant, Copley, dead from a stab wound in a car inside the grounds. Hearing a groan within the house, he steals in.

NOW GO ON
CHAPTER XVI
Except for the faint starlight through the half-open door, the hall stretched away before him in shadowy vagueness to lose itself in a blackness like velvet beyond the foot of a flight of stairs, stars that his eyes guessed at, rather than definitely made out. He stole across the threshold into that forbidding interior.

That every step he took in this sinister house might be dogged by peril, Jim Wynter had had warning enough. The silent figure in that car in the dark of the trees outside—that other man who had made that long flight from Russia only to find death waiting for him at his journey's end here at Monksilver, two dead men whispering to him of stealthy, lurking menace within this house as he groped his way through the shadow to the stairs.

Whispers that he brushed aside impatiently. Wynter was no more eager than the next man to court unnecessary danger. But there were times when one could avoid danger only at the cost of one's self-respect. To his strained nerves as he made his way up the stairs with the noiseless stealth of a hunting cat, the intense silence brooding over Monksilver made the enclosed atmosphere of the house like a whispering gallery, and low moaning above the sound of movements that seemed to proceed from the same source, a murmur of voices now faint and now still, still further away, as if from a distance, now coming closer, now receding.

At the top of the stairs, where the light from the hall shone down, Wynter stopped. He had not heard the sound of the door opening, and he had not heard the sound of the door closing. He had not heard the sound of the door opening, and he had not heard the sound of the door closing. He had not heard the sound of the door opening, and he had not heard the sound of the door closing.

FOOTSTEPS
The sound of a footstep on a carpeted floor was a sound that Wynter had heard many times before. It was a sound that he had heard many times before. It was a sound that he had heard many times before.

Investigate Severe and Lasting Abdominal Pain

It is Usually a Danger Signal, and Demands Expert Diagnosis, Says Dr. Copeland, Writing of Acute Appendicitis and Suggesting Preliminary Treatment.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

IN a medical survey recently made in Philadelphia, many interesting facts were brought to light concerning appendicitis. The statistics covering the clinical records of over five thousand patients in twenty-seven hospitals, were carefully studied.

It is hoped that out of this careful survey of figures and statistics, it may be possible to reduce the death rate in acute appendicitis.

Many interesting and instructive facts are learned from this study. One of them is that the persons who suffer most from this disease are those who have taken laxatives prior to the operation.

At the Circleville Theatres

AT THE GRAND
Motion picture cameras have gone into many strange places to provide entertainment for talkie audiences, but they have been in few stranger spots than those used in making "The Seas Beneath," the gripping Fox movie-tape of submarine warfare that opens today at the Grand Theatre. Encased in a heavy steel box and "snooting" through a plate glass window, they went far beneath the surface of the Pacific lashed to the forward deck of a giant submarine and captured something of the unreal world that exists below the waves.
Featuring George O'Brien as the American commander and Marion Lessing, the newest screen "find," as the German heroine, the picture is perfectly cast. Warren Hymer, William Collier, Sr., and Walter C. Kelly have the principal supporting roles. Ford, who directed such notable pictures as "The Iron Horse," "3 Bad Men," "The Black Watch," "Four Sons," "Men Without Women" and "Up the River," has excelled himself in this production.

AT THE CLIFTONA
Stuart Erwin's newest screen role gives him his first opportunity to mix dramatic action with the comedy-making which has made him screen famous. A featured role in Ruth Chatterton's latest starring picture, "The Magnificent Lie," tomorrow and Friday's attraction at the Cliftona Theatre, opens a new career to the laughable funny-man.

Erwin, in "The Magnificent Lie," plays the role of a faithful retainer of Ralph Bellamy, blind young lumberman who falls in love with a New Orleans' cafe entertainer under the impression that she is a famous French actress on an American tour. A wagger leads Miss Chatterton, as the girl, to practice the deception.

Bellamy is the handsome New York stage star who makes his nasal passages—Nature's warning that you are actually "catching cold."

2.—After a Cold Starts
At night, massage the throat and chest with Vicks Vapo-Rub—now available in "stainless form" if you prefer. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bedclothing loose around the neck so that the heated vapors arising may be inhaled freely all night long. During the day, use Vicks Nose Drops every few hours—any time, any place. This gives you full 24-hour treatment.

Ideal for Children
Both these Vicks products are external and hence can be used freely and as often as needed without the risk of too much "dosing." Internal "dosing" often disturbs the digestion, especially the delicate digestions of children. This impairs the appetite, which in turn reduces body strength at a time when resistance to disease is most needed. Don't "dose" colds—especially children's colds—except on advice of your family physician.

Trial Offer to Vicks Users
Proof of this Plan is in its trial—in your own home. Get a bottle of Vicks Drops today. Keep it alongside your trusted Vicks Vapo-Rub. Use them together as directed. Their better "Control-of-Colds" will be noted in fewer colds—colds of less severity and shorter duration. An actual saving to you in money, loss of time and health. Otherwise, the test will cost you nothing. For, unless results are more than satisfactory, your druggist will refund in full the price of the new Vicks Nose Drops.—Adv.

Use Vicks Nose Drops—a few drops up each nostril—whenever you or your children have been exposed to anything which your own experience tells you is apt to bring on a cold—contact with others having fresh colds, crowds, stuffy, ill-ventilated rooms, public places—a night on the Pullman or a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold-inhaling smoke, dust, gases—or when you are tired from overwork.

In short, don't wait for that stuffy, sneezy irritation of the

PAIN like INDIGESTION

WHAT many call indigestion is very often nothing but acids in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. You feel distress when you leave the table. Two hours later there is often acute pain. But you need not suffer when you know what to do.

The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. The best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

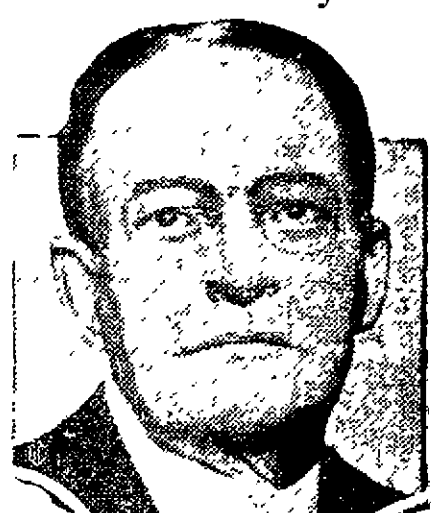

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. The stomach is soothed. All sourness and gas is dispelled. The entire digestive tract is sweetened by magnesia in this form. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is magnesia in perfect suspension. It's the scientific and self-evident thing to take for the relief of acidity. You have the word of highest medical authority for this.

Be careful to ask for Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, the preparation of magnesia prescribed and used by physicians for the correction of excess acidity.

Every mother should know certain uses of this preparation. For herself, and for her children—babies too. Complete directions in each package, 25c and 50c bottles at drugstores everywhere. The ideal dietetic for clean teeth and healthy gums is Phillips' Dental Magnesia. A superior toothpaste.—Adv.

Bares Betrayal

Horace Allen (above), father of Edward H. B. Allen, who shot and killed Francis A. Donaldson, 3rd, in a quarrel over young Allen's sister, Rose, has accused the dead youth of betraying his daughter. The elder Allen also declared in a prepared statement that the Donaldson family had refused to let their son marry Rose, the girl of his affections. Both families are prominent socially in Philadelphia.

Sears, Mathews was directly charged with the enforcement of the prohibition laws, Sears handling the administrative end of the department.

Handicapped considerably by budget reductions, Mathews originated the "flying squadron" method of prohibition enforcement by which four agents were used in conducting raids in various parts of the city.

MAKES STATEMENT
Following his receipt of the apportionment of policies of the department.

"We hope to go forward with a consistent and diligent enforcement program, determined to abate conditions wherever possible."

"I naturally appreciate the confidence shown in me by the governor and hope in all things measure up to the standard which he expects."

Mathews' election to the position of sheriff in Lorain-co in 1926 was a big surprise to political observers. Ordinarily Lorain-co is three-to-one Republican.

Although the Anti-Saloon League of Ohio never actually recommends anyone for appointment to a place in the prohibition department, Mathews' elevation to the position, according to Superintendent S. P. McNaught, "was satisfactory."

NEWS FROM DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE REPORTED

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
OHIO FIRST IN HONEY
According to C. A. Reese, State Apiarist for the State Department of Agriculture, Ohio will rank first in the production of honey this year. It is estimated that in this state there are 250,000 colonies of honey bees. This year these bees have produced over 235 carloads of honey.

While a considerable amount of this honey is consumed within the state, the most of it is exported. It is not uncommon for the State Department of Agriculture to issue certificates to shippers showing that honey to be shipped to France, Germany, Holland and other nations was produced by bees free from disease.

FREE BULLETIN
A number of recipes have been prepared by the Ohio Department of Agriculture giving numerous ways in which honey can be used as a part of the Thanksgiving dinner. Copy of the bulletin containing these recipes can be had free by addressing the Division of Plant Industry, Ohio State Department of Agriculture, Columbus, Ohio.

FARM BANKRUPTCIES
Reports reaching the Ohio Department of Agriculture indicate that farm bankruptcies are decreasing in the United States. Records show that in 1928 there were 5,679. In 1929 4,939 and only 4,464 in 1930.

Considering the fact that the farm population makes up nearly half of the whole, the farmer enjoys an enviable position as regards failure. You can depend on the farmer fighting to the last ditch and finding an honorable way out of his difficulties.

ONE DOLLAR EGGS
Will eggs by 75c or $1.00 a dozen in New York and Boston this winter? This is a question being asked by many who are watching the trend of the poultry industry. There are many factors entering into the production phase of the industry that would lead to the belief that there will be a shortage and a shortage means increased prices and more money to the farmers.

HUSKING CONTEST
The eighth annual National Corn Husking Contest was held last week at Grundy Center, Iowa. Winners and runners-up in contests in eight states competed for championship honors.

The winner in this contest was Orville Welch of Illinois, who husked 31.37 bushels in eighty minutes, the time allotted for the contest. Second place was won by Theodore Balko of Minnesota with 30.56 bushels.

The contestant from this state, Albert Lankhuff of Paulding-co, was selected in a State Contest sponsored by The Ohio Farmer and held at Tippecanoe City several weeks ago. His record in this contest was 19 1-2 bushels. The runner-up was Ross Moon of Warren-co who made a record of 18.67 bushels.

CALL FOR PANS
Women who gave pies to the Benevolent association during Pumpkin Show are asked to go to the city cottage to retrieve their pans and plates.

HUSBAND OF GIRL IS HELD

Charge Youth Strangled Wife to Death; Body Found Near Wheeling, W. Va.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 18.—Police of Ohio and West Virginia joined forces today to determine whether the brutal slaying of Mrs. Marie Burch Doyle, 16, was committed in Ohio or in West Virginia, where her body was found, as denials came from her youthful husband, Dudley Doyle, 17, of Mountsville, W. Va., that he knew anything about the cause of her death.

Doyle was confronted with the marks of automobile tires in the road near Chapline Hill here, a lonely "lovers lane" where the girl's body was found, with four strands of rope tightly bound about the neck. The marks in the road duplicated the marks made by the tires of Doyle's car, but the husband declared he was not involved in the death of his estranged wife.

Two men known to have been friends of the girl, whose home was in Bellaire, O., were sought by police for questioning. They were Chester Kindeberger and Chester Giesek. Authorities said they wanted to interrogate the two men concerning the girl's whereabouts following her disappearance Friday night.

Mrs. Caraway Is Second Woman to Sit in Senate

Widow of the Arkansas Senator Actually Will Be First of Sex To Serve In Washington. Mrs. Felton Only Honorary Solon.

THE LATE MRS. REBECCA FELTON
In the loss of her husband, Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, of Arkansas, Mrs. Caraway has gained an honor never before experienced by any American woman in the full sense that it is enjoyed by this comely 54-year-old astute feminine politician of Jonesboro, Ark. As pointed as temporary successor to her husband in the U. S. Senate, Mrs. Caraway will take her seat when Congress convenes on December 7 and hold the honor at least until January 12. On that date a special election will be held in Arkansas to determine who will complete Senator Caraway's unfinished term, which runs until March, 1933. With Governor Harvey Parnell, of Arkansas, who appointed Mrs. Caraway to her temporary post, enthusiastically supporting her for election, it is at least probable that this close adviser of her late husband will soon be a full-fledged, duly elected solon. Mrs. Caraway was preceded in the Senate by only one woman, the late Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, of Georgia, who held her honorary seat for only a few hours after taking office. Thus, Mrs. Caraway actually will be the first woman to serve in the Senate, taking a vital part in its deliberations.

BEHIND the SCENE In HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL
HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — With Robert Williams critically ill and unable to go on with the Constance Bennett picture Hollywood is reflecting on how many prominent players have recently been stricken as they were on the verge of taking important roles.
To name a few, Gary Cooper lost out on "The Miracle Man." Carole Lombard on "The Greeks Had a Word for It." Lawrence Oliver on Pola Negri's picture and John Boles on "Strictly Dishonorable."
There were, too, the serious accidents of Evelyn Knapp who was bed-ridden for 13 weeks after a fall, and Joan Bennett, who was thrown from a horse and who will not be able to return to work for some time yet.
Due to the illness of Marie Dressler, the production of "Emma" was held up for two months at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Another heavy loser was Clara Bow, who gave up the role in "City Streets." In this case, her misfortune was the break that gave Sylvia Sydney her start in the films.
These illnesses and accidents not only have affected the players, but have cost the studio thousands of dollars in the readjustment of their plans.

YOU DON'T GOSSIP? LISTEN ANYWAY.
John M. Stahl, the director, and Roxana Wray plan to be married today or tomorrow. They will leave for New York within a few days.

CANADA'S "SOFT" DRINKS
OTTAWA, Canada. — There are still some people in Canada who do not drink sodas, too. In the year 1930, $13,550,407 was spent for "soft drinks" in Canada. This was an 11 per cent increase in value over the figures for 1929. Figures just issued state that there are 385 plants in Canada engaged in the "aerated waters industry," as it is officially called. Canada imports comparatively little mineral and aerated waters. The total value of such imports in 1930 was $195,257 and the value of the exports was $10,017.

These tests, according to Dr. Johnson, are not merely haphazard selections from which some data is collected but consist essentially of problems that require intellectual ability for their solutions which are based on experimental studies of tests of fundamental processes that have proven to be of value in the prediction of scholastic success.

Mrs. Caraway Is Second Woman to Sit in Senate

Widow of the Arkansas Senator Actually Will Be First of Sex To Serve In Washington. Mrs. Felton Only Honorary Solon.

In the loss of her husband, Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, of Arkansas, Mrs. Caraway has gained an honor never before experienced by any American woman in the full sense that it is enjoyed by this comely 54-year-old astute feminine politician of Jonesboro, Ark. Appointed as temporary successor to her husband in the U. S. Senate, Mrs. Caraway will take her seat when Congress convenes on December 7 and hold the honor at least until January 12. On that date a special election will be held in Arkansas to determine who will complete Senator Caraway's unfinished term, which runs until March, 1933. With Governor Harvey Parnell, of Arkansas, who appointed Mrs. Caraway to her temporary post, enthusiastically supporting her for election, it is at least probable that this close adviser of her late husband will soon be a full-fledged, duly elected solon. Mrs. Caraway was preceded in the Senate by only one woman, the late Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, of Georgia, who held her honorary seat for only a few hours after taking office. Thus, Mrs. Caraway actually will be the first woman to serve in the Senate, taking a vital part in its deliberations.

BEHIND the SCENE In HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — With Robert Williams critically ill and unable to go on with the Constance Bennett picture, Hollywood is reflecting on how many prominent players have recently been stricken as they were on the verge of taking important roles.

To name a few, Gary Cooper lost out on "The Miracle Man," Carole Lombard on "The Greeks Had a Word for It," Lawrence Oliver on Pola Negri's picture and John Boles on "Strictly Dishonorable." There were, too, the serious accidents of Evelyn Knapp, who was bed-ridden for 13 weeks after a fall, and Joan Bennett, who was thrown from a horse and who will not be able to return to work for some weeks yet.

Due to the illness of Marie Dressler, the production of "Emma" was held up for two months at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Another heavy loser was Clara Bow, who gave up the role in "City Streets." In this case, her misfortune was the break that gave Sylvia Sydney her start in the films.

These illnesses and accidents not only have affected the players, but have cost the studio thousands of dollars in the readjustment of their plans.

YOU DON'T GOSSIP? LISTEN ANYWAY.

John M. Stahl, the director, and Roxana Wray plan to be married today or tomorrow. They will leave for New York within a few days.

And Bill Wellman says he and Marjorie Crawford will take the vows around December 22. . . . The Hilton Siamese twins are here and will occupy the famous Jack Donovan house that Mae Murray was in litigation about for so long. . . . Doug and Mary Pickford will go on to Europe from New York. Hollywood won't see them again until the Christmas holidays. Maybe not then. . . . Warners will release Lil Dagover's first picture immediately, so they'll know how to plan for her future. They have an option on three more. . . . Claudette Colbert returns to New York on Wednesday or Thursday. . . . Jeanette MacDonald is back and tells of being seasick from the time she sailed from Europe until the boat docked in New York.

QUICK THINKING.

For presence of mind, Adolphe Menjou would give the prize to the head electrician on a recent film set.

Just as the camera was about to grind, the electrician strode into the set. "Who in the blankety-blank put that screen in front of that light?" he shouted. "Sh-h! It was the director."

hissed an assistant. "Well," gulped the electrician, "isn't that pretty?"

NO ARGUMENT

The other afternoon little Robert Coogan was carving a stick on the Paramount lot. "What are you making?" asked a passing supervisor. "An airplane," said Robert. "But where's the propeller?" You never saw an airplane without a propeller, twittered the supervisor. "All right," agreed Robert. "It's a glider."

IN THE NEWS.

There will be two important feminine roles on Radio Pictures' aviation story, "The Lost Squadron." Dorothy Jordan was borrowed for one, but Mary Astor will play opposite Richard Dix.

This completes the list of principals and rehearsals for the picture start today. The R. K. O. lot is cluttered with airplanes, in preparation for the sky shots.

DID YOU KNOW

That Norman Taurog, director of "Skippy" used to be a child actor himself, playing, with Mary Pickford on the stage in "A Good Little Devil" and later appearing with her in the film version?

CANADA'S "SOFT" DRINKS

OTTAWA, Canada. — There are still some people in Canada who do drink sodas, too. In the year 1930, $13,550,407 was spent for "soft drinks" in Canada. This was an 11 per cent increase in value over the figures for 1929. Figures just issued state that there are 385 plants in Canada engaged in the "aerated waters industry," as it is officially called. Canada imports comparatively little mineral and aerated waters. The total value of such imports in 1930 was $195,257 and the value of the exports was $10,017.

also seek information regarding the death of the girl's father and the illness of her brother, George, 16.

The coroner declared he had learned that $1,000 insurance policies on the lives of the father and two children were held by Mrs. Mason.

BODY EXHUMED

Mildred's body was secretly exhumed two weeks ago. She died last August. Dr. William D. McNally, a Chicago toxicologist, examined the body and reported the presence of large quantities of arsenic. The body of the girl's father, who died a year and a half ago, will also be exhumed and examined, the coroner announced. Physicians will attempt to diagnose a strange illness attacking the girl's brother.

Exhumation of the girl's body was ordered at the behest of neighbors who communicated their suspicions to Coroner Allen.
